The harvest day has come.

The land of Shantah bore no crops.

Shantah is angry.

Shantah went to his brother.

Shantah said to his brother: "You were not fair to me, brother

You chose for yourself fertile land.

You chose for me barren land.

You took the fertile field.

You left me the barren field."

Saydah said: "Don't be angry, brother.

Take my land and give me your land."

Shantah thanked his brother.

The harvest season has come. How strange!
What happened?

Saydah was lucky. Shantah was unlucky.

The barren field became fertile. The fertile field became barren.

Saydah's field is full of crops.

Shantah's field is devoid of crops.

Saydah is joyful. He has been lucky twice.

Shantah is tearful. He has been unlucky twice.

Shantah said to himself: "My brother's land was mine.

Why has he taken it from me?

My brother was unfair to me.

I have a better right to the crops than he.

When night fell, Shantah went stealthily to his brother's land.

Shantah stole a sack from his brother's store.

شَنْطُحٌ يَهُمْ بِالْمُرُوجِ مِنْ أَرْضِ أَخِيهِ . شَيْخٌ كَبِيرٌ يَعْتَرِضُ طَرِيقَ ٤٠ . ٱلشَّيْحُ يَقُولُ: "أَنْتَ تَسْرِقُ مَالَ أَخِيلَكَ! إِرْجِيعِ ٱلزَّكِيمَةَ إِلَى مَخْزَنِ أَخِلَكَ." بِاللَّهَجَبِ إِنْ مِنْ أَيْنَ جِاءَ هَلِذَا ٱلسَّنَّهُ ؟ شَنْطُحُ لَمْ سِكُوهُ قَبْلَ هَادِهِ ٱللَّهُ . شَنْظُحٌ يَقُولُ: ماذاتُرِيدُ مِثِّ ؟ مَنْ جاءَ بلكَ إلى هُنا؟ هٰذِهِ أَرْضُ أَخِي . مَاشَأْنُكُ أَنْتَ ؟ اَلْشَيْخُ يَقُولُ: أَنَاحَظُ أَخِلَكَ : أَخْرُسُ مِالَهُ وَأَرْعِياهُ } وَلَا أَمَكُمْنِ أَحَدًا مِنْ سَرِقَتِهِ وَلَوْ كَانَ أَخَاهُ ."

Shantah starts to leave his brother's land.

An old man stands in his way.

The old man says:

" You steal your brother's property.

Return the sack to your brother's store."

How strange!

Shantah has never seen him before this evening.

Shantah says: "What do you want from me?

Who brought you here?

This is my brother's land-

What has it got to do with you?"

The old man says: "I am your brother's Good Luck.

I guard his property, take care of it, and let nobody rob him of it, not even his own brother."

شَنْطُحُ لَشْتَدُ عَحَدُ . شَنْطَحٌ يَقُولُ: أَخِي لَهُ حَظٌّ يَحُرُسُ مِالَهُ وَكُوْعَاهُ وَ لَا يُمَكِّرُ مِنْ أَحَدًا مِنْ سَرِقَتِهِ وَلَوْ كَانِ] أَخَاهُ -أَمَّا أَنَا فَلَيْسَ لِي حَظُّ ... واأَسَفَاهُ! اَلشَّيْخُ يَقُو لئي : أَ لِكُلِّ إِنْسَانِ حَظُّ فِي هَاذِهِ ٱلْحَسَاةِ." شَنْظُحُ يَقُولُ : أَيْنَ حَظِّي ؟ أَرِيدُ أَن ي أَراهُ إِ" اَلشَّ يُخُ يَقُولُ ...: يُحَظُّلَكَ نائِمٌ فِي قِمَّةِ جَبَلِ ٱلسَّعَادَةِ .

إِذْ هَبْ إِلَيْهِ إِذَا شِئْتَ أَنْ تَلْقَاهُ "

Shantah becomes more puzzled.

Shantah says: "My brother has Good Luck to guard his property, to take care of it, and to let nobody rob him of it, not even his brother.

But, alas! I have no luck."

The old man says:

" Everybody has his luck in this life."

Shantah says:

"Where is my luck? I wish to see it."

The old man says:

"Your Luck is asleep at the top of the Mountain of Happiness.

Go to him, if you wish to meet him."

"شَنْطَحُ " يُرُدُّ ٱلزَّكِيبَةَ إِلَى مَخْزَن أَخِيه . شَنْطَحٌ يَسْأَلُ ٱلشَّنْجَ : "أَلَا تَسْتَطِيعُ أَنْ تَذْهَبَ إِلَى حَظِّى لِتُصْحِيَهُ ؟ اَلشَّنخُ يَقُوكُ : "أَنْتَ وَحْدَكَ ٱلْمَادِرُ عَلَى ذَاكَ : لايُصْحِنه - مِنْ نَوْمِهِ - أَحَدُ سِوالَتُ "شَنْطَحٌ يَقُولُ : "كَيْتَ أَصِلُ إِلَى حَظَّى؟" اَلشَّهُ يُعْمِفُ لَهُ ٱلطَّرْيِقَ ، ثُمَّ يَقُولُ . أَنْتَ عازفٌ ماهِرٌ ، وَمُغَنَّ بارِعٌ . سَتَرَى عُودًا يجوار حَظَلَت ٱلنَّالَمْ. خُد ٱلْعُودَ وَلَا تَكُفَّ عَن ٱلْعَزْف وَٱلْفِناءِ ٥ حَتَّى نَصْحَى حَظُّكَ مِنْ نَوْمِهِ ٱلطُّويل."

Shantah returns the sack to his brother's store.

Shantah asks the old man: "Can't you go to my Luck to wake him up?"

The old man says: "You alone can do that.

No one except you can wake him up from his sleep."

Shantah says: "How can I reach my Luck?"

The old man tells him the way and says:
"You are a skilful player and a clever singer.

You will find a lute by your sleeping Luck.

Pick the lute up and do not stop playing and singing till your Luck wakes up from his long sleep."

Next day Shantah leaves at dawn.

Shantah goes on his way to the Mountain of Happiness.

Shantah travels for days and nights.

Shantah keeps travelling with little sleep.

He travels for fourteen days.

On the morning of the fifteenth day, Shantah reaches the Valley of Lions.

Shantah proceeds through the Valley of Lions.

The Lion of the Valley sees him.

The Lion of the Valley approaches him.

Shantah does not see the Lion of the Valley.

Shantah's mind is preoccupied with his sleeping Luck.

The Lion of the Valley stands in Shantah's way.

Shantah is roused from his preoccupation -

The Lion of the Valley greets Shantah.

Shantah returns his greeting politely and respectfully.

Valley asks him about the object of his journey.

Shantah tells him his story.

The Lion of the Valley is amazed.

The Lion of the Valley says:

"The "cub of the den" is sick. Hungry! Hungry! Always hungry. However much he eats, he is never satisfied.

I want you to do me a favour, Shantah. When your Luck wakes up from his sleep, ask him for a medicine which will cure my son the "cub of the den", of his sickness."

Shantah says: "You will have your wish", and bids him good-bye.

Shantah resumes
his journey to the Mountain of Happiness.

Shantah goes on travelling day and night.

He spends eighteen days, after leaving the Valley of Lions.

I wonder how many days he has been travelling since he left his home town?

During the forenoon of the next day, Shantah sees three men talking.

They were three farmer brothers.

Shantah goes up to them.

Shantah approaches them.

Shantah greets the three farmers.

The three farmers welcome him and ask him about the object of his journey. Shantah tells them his story.

The farmers say to him: "We are three brothers. Each of us has a big family.

Our children have increased in number, and their wants have increased.

We are getting much poorer.

We have become unable to obtain the food we need, except with great difficulty.

We want a favour from you. When your Luck wakes up, ask him what we can do to relieve our distress."

Shantah says: "You will have your wish" and bids them good-bye.

Shantah resumes his journey for days and weeks.

Shantah arrives at a big city.

Shantah passes a tailor's shop.

Shantah greets the tailor.

The tailor returns his greeting.

The tailor welcomes him, and asks him about the object of his journey.

Shantah tells his story to the tailor.

The tailor says: "Your story will please King Bahraman, if he hears it."

Shantah goes to the king.

The king listens to Shantah's story.

The king says:
"Everything here
is at its best.

But a few days ago there appeared a group of wicked people whom I have failed to punish.

I want a favour. Ask your Luck, when he wakes up, what I can do to save the country from their evil."

Shantah says: "You will have your wish", and bids him good-bye.

Shantah resumes his journey.

Shantah reaches the Mountain of Happiness.

Shantah climbs to the top.

Shantah sees his Luck at the top of the mountain.

His Luck is asleep; his eyes are closed.

Shantah hurries towards his sleeping Luck to wake him up.

Shantah calls his Luck. His Luck does not hear.

Shantah wonders why his Luck is asleep, and does not answer his call, or hear his summons.

Shantah sees the lute beside his sleeping Luck.

Shantah remembers the advice given to him by his brother's Luck.

شَنَطُهُ يَأْخُذُ ٱلْعُودَ: يَعْزِفُ وَيُغَنِّي . شَنَطُحٌ عازفٌ ماهِرٌ . شَنطُحُ مُعَنَّ بارِعٌ . ٱلْحَظُّ لا يَزِالنِّ نامُّمًا . شَنْطَحُ * لا يَكُفُ عَن ٱلْعَرْفِ وَٱلْغِناءِ . شَنْطَحٌ 'يُراقَبُ حَظَّهُ ٱلنَّالَّمُ . بِاللَّهُ هُشَّة (مَاأَعْجَبَ مَايَرَى (ٱلْحَظُّ يَتَحَرَّكِ . الْحَظُّ يَفْتَحُ عَيْنَهِ . · ٱلْحَظُّ يَصْحَىٰ مِنَ ٱلنَّوْمِ · ٱلْحَظُّ يُظْهِرُ إِعْجَابَهُ بِعَزْفِهِ وَغِنَائَّهِ . اَلْحَظُ بَقُولُ: أَحْسَنْتَ ، يا تَشَنْظُحُ · أَنَا صَحِدتُ . أَنَا أَسْهَرُ عَلَى مَصْلَحَتِكَ كُما يَسْهَرُ أَخِي عَلَى مَصْلَحَةِ أَخِلَكُ .

Shantah takes up the lute. He plays and sings.

Shantah is a skilful player. Shantah is a clever singer.

His Luck is still asleep.

Shantah does not stop playing or singing

Shantah watches his sleeping Luck.

Behold! What a wonderful sight!

His Luck moves. His Luck opens his eyes.

His Luck awakes from sleep.

His Luck seems pleased with Shantah's playing and singing.

His Luck says: "Well done, Shantah, I have woken up. I guard your interest, the same as my brother guards your brother's interest."

Shantah thanks God for the success of his effort.

Shantah tells his woken Luck about the requests of the Lion of the Valley, the three farmers, and Bahraman.

His woken Luck gives him the answers to his requests.

He prescribes medicine which will cure the "cub of the den" of hunger. He tells him what the three poor farmers should do in order to become rich.

Then he talks to him of the truth about Bahraman.

Shantah goes to the palace of Bahraman. Shantah tells Bahraman what he has heard. Shantah says: "What a wonderful story! I asked my Luck, so he said:

الْمَلِكُ سِرْحَانُ يَتَمَنَّى أَنْ يَرْزُقُهُ اللَّهُ غُلامًا يَخْلُفُهُ بَعْدُ مَوْتِهِ عَلَى عَرْشِ مَمْلَكَمِّهِ ، زَوْجَتُهُ تَلُدُ بَهْرَمِانَ . . 'King Serhan wishes that God may bless him with a boy to succeed him on the throne of his kingdom after his death.

His wife gives birth to Bahraman. Serhan announces that he has been blessed with a boy. Bahraman accedes to the throne after her father's death. Bahraman is a gentle maiden. Her gentleness made the wicked people take advantage of her.

It would be better for a maiden to tell her people the truth about herself, then choose a husband to help her'."

Bahraman says: "You are more fit to rule than I.

You knew my secrets and gave me sincere advice.

I choose no husband other than you."

Shantah says: "I am in no need of this."

Shantah resumes his travelling.

Shantah meets the three farmers.

The farmers ask him what his Luck said.

Shantah says: "You keep on working day and night in order to earn your bread. Come, let me show you a golden treasure."

The farmers find the treasure.

The farmers say: "You alone are the owner of the treasure.

From to-day you are our chief. Luck came with you, when you came to us." Shantah says:

"What good is the treasure to me, now that I have become fortunate, and my Luck has woken up from his deep sleep?"

Shantah resumes his travelling.

Shantah reaches the Valley of Lions.

Shantah meets the Lion of the Valley.

Shantah sees the "cub of the den" beside his father.

Shantah greets them and shakes hands with them.

The Lion of the Valley and the "cub of the den" shake hands with Shantah and return his greeting with a better one.

The Lion of the Valley is pleased at the return of Shantah.

The "cub of the den" is pleased at the return of Shantah.

Shantah is pleased to meet the Lion of the Valley and the "cub of the den"

Shantah is glad. His woken Luck guards him, takes care of him, and grants all his wishes.

The Lion of the Valley says: "What have you done, Shantah?"

So he tells him the whole story from start to finish.

The Lion of the Valley and the "cub of the den" listen to his talk and wonder about what they hear.

The Lion of the Valley says: "Have you asked your Luck about a medicine which will cure my son of his hunger?

What did you say? And what did he answer?"

Shantah says: "I told him that the "cub of the den" was hungry, and however much he ate he was never satisfied.

My Luck said: 'He will be cured if he eats the flesh of an idiot'."

The "cub of the den" says: "We have found the medicine, father."

The Lion of the Valley says: "You are right, my son."

The Lion of the Valley has been looking for a medicine to cure his son of hunger. Now he knows the medicine.

Will he lose the chance as Shantah did?

The Lion of the Valley is intelligent and wise. He knows that

No one but a complete idiot loses his chance.

Shantah is a complete idiot. He is exposing himself to death, after he has lost a treasure and a kingdom.

He has lost two chances. What more does he want?

His Luck lost hope of his success, so he went to sleep again.

The Lion of the Valley attacks the miserable creature, and offers his flesh as medicine to his son, the "cub of the den"

From Professor Carlo Nallino

Professor in the University of Rome and Member of the Academy of the Arabit Language

Sir.

My heart has overflowed with joy to read during these last few years a considerable number of your publications by which you have formed the children's library.

If my conviction is trac, you are undoubledly namatched in the sphere of children's publications in the entire Arabic World, for I know of no roal to you in this sphere in any country where the telter dad (الله العباد) is nitered.

Your books have combined skilful enterlamment with excellent style and abundant informations. I can find no equal to them except amony the books studied in addition to the curriculum in the schools of Europe, for simulating a love of reading and entertainment in the minds of children and young people, just as they stimulate in them—in addition to this—the love of reflection, and prepare the may for it. I feel sure that your books have fitted this road in the world of pedagogy in the East by this ideal method, for the altraction of these stories does not lose its beauty and rharm. Everything in it shows perfect taste, as it is onistanding in its excellent choice of subject-malter, in the soundness and accuracy of its expression, and in the simplicity of its language, while its phraseology and the choice of its vocabulary are well-designed for showing the perfect finil of the mature and true Arabic taste which pervades the whole

I do not except from this the stories which you have derived from Enropean literature, for the excellence of their style, their well-chosen on abulary and their stump of pure Arabic, teave no room for doubt that these tales are - in their form - essentially Arabic

I offer the most unreserved commendation for the care you have devoted to the choice of the subject-motter in the first place, the expression in the second, and the size of the lettering in the third, and also in the plan which is designed to lead to perfect success by progress from the child to the adult in hormony with his development in gears and attainments I am likewise delighted to call attention to the delicacy and clearness which rhatacterise the artistic pictures which adorn the pages of this series

To conclude, I congratulate you most sincerely on this praiseworthy work, and pray from the bottom of my heart that this series may become midespread in all Arabic countries

Nothing could be more worthy of these books than that every child should read them and every young person should profit by them and thot every school and institution should leach them, not could anything be fitter than that they should act as a quide for foreigners studying Arabic, who desire to allow this goal in the shortest way, and most direct method.

Please necept, Mr. Kilony, my sincerest good wishes and esteem

Carlo Nallino.
